The Scotia Queen Went Down Off Cape Hatteras December 19

BEVERLY, Dec. 22.—The loss of the Danish schooner Scotia Queen, off Cape Hatteras on Dec. 19 and the rescue of Captain E. J. Richards of New York and his crew of six by the steamer Gulfwind of the Gulf Shipping Co.'s fleet, became known today upon the arrival of the steamer. The crew of the schooner had been clinging to the rigging of their waterlogged craft for 18 hours when they were seen by the lookout on the Gulfwind. Volunteers from the oil steamer under the direction of Captain Oscar Anderson, accomplished the rescue at great peril to themselves as the high seas threatened many times to swamp their small boat. Oil was pumped from the Gulfwind's tanks to smooth the waves somewhat and after several fruitless attempts the dory which was in charge of Third Officer C. E. Wheeler of Philadelphia, was brought under the lee of the schooner time after time, until all the men of the Scotia Queen had jumped into it. Even the pet cat was saved for one of the crew held the animal in his arms as he made the desperate leap.

BOLSHEVIKI DEFEATED IN DECISIVE BATTLE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—Defeat of the Bolshevik army on the Ekaterinburg front in a decisive battle by an army of loyal Russians was reported today in an official despatch to the Russian embassy from the Omisk government. The message said the disorganized Bolsheviks were retreating northward toward Perm and that this was the first independent action of moment against the Bolsheviks and part of a campaign that was expected to unite some of the loyal districts of Russia and Siberia. Much war equipment and booty were captured.

Wilson Opposes Plan to Sink Ships Surrendered By Huns Under Armistice Terms

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—It may be stated authoritatively that President Wilson will oppose in the most direct fashion, proposals from any source to sink the warships surrendered by Germany under the terms of the armistice.

Since word came from Paris that American delegates to the peace conference, with British support, intended to advocate destruction of the enemy vessels to avoid contention over their distribution, the subject has been discussed with much interest among American and allied naval officers here. Some officers found reasons for supporting such a course, particularly in the difficulty of incorporating into other navies craft of German construction.

Officials have professed to know nothing about the attitude of the president until today, when it was learned that he viewed the plan as altogether undesirable.

MANY LOWELL CASUALTIES

One Lowell Soldier Reported Killed in Action—Seventeen Reported Wounded

Expected That Last Casualty List Will Be Published Friday of Present Week

In the past few days information has been received in this city via official casualty lists, war department telegrams and private letters of no less than 22 casualties in which Lowell soldiers are concerned. One man is reported killed in action, 17 are reported wounded in varying degrees, three report that they are in good health at present despite previous reports to the contrary and official confirmation comes of the recently reported death of Lieut. Lorne L. Cupples.

It is expected that the week beginning today will mark the end of the reports of casualties as war department officials have stated that next Friday should be the last day that casualty lists will be published.

Following are brief sketches of the Lowell men who have figured in casualty reports the last few days:

Sergt. William J. Killoy
This evening's casualty list contains the name of Sergt. William J. Killoy of Battery A, 10th Heavy Artillery, reported wounded. He is the son of William H. Killoy of 23 Rockside avenue and the news of his injury has been previously published in The Sun.

Sergt. James J. Delmore
Today's list also contains the name of Sergt. James J. Delmore, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Delmore of 422 Broadway, reported wounded. He is a member of Battery F of the 10th Field Artillery and has been awarded a war cross for distinguished service.

CAPT. PELLETIER CABLES CHRISTMAS GREETINGS FROM FRANCE

That Capt. F. C. Pelletier, commanding officer of Co. B, 1st Battalion, Fourth Railway Engineer Regiment, does not forget his Lowell friends in the whirl and turmoil of his duties "over there" is evidenced by the following cablegram received by The Sun today.

Paris, Dec. 22, 1918.
With all my friends merry Christmas and happy New Year.
CAPTAIN PELLETIER.

The Fourth Railway Engineers Regiment is made up almost entirely of Boston and Maine railroad men. Capt. Pelletier was formerly general yardmaster for the Boston & Maine in Lowell, and a number of men who worked with him here went to France with him. Co. B, in fact, is made up almost entirely of Lowell men and includes Sergt. Jack Donovan, whose very interesting letters appear frequently in The Sun. Capt. Pelletier has repeatedly been complimented in France for the efficiency of his men.

The Fourth Railway Engineer Regiment organized in the spring of 1917 and encamped at Rockingham park, Salem, N. H., until mid-summer. Then it went overseas and has since been engaged in building railroads "over there."

HEAD OF GERMAN DYE INDUSTRY FLEES TO SWITZERLAND

BERLIN, Sunday, Dec. 22. (By the Associated Press).—Dr. Carl Duisburg of Leverkusen, head of the German aniline dye industry, is reported to have fled to Switzerland.

He was generally looked upon as the connecting link between "business" and General Ludendorff, and was one of the most active of the pan-Germans.

THE TRUE-NAME LAW FOR LOWELL

Mayor Thompson received a request today from the war department commission on training camp activities, whose headquarters is at Washington, that he request the local license commission to have local hotels and lodging houses introduce a form of registration of couples that is at present in vogue in Boston under the true-name law.

This law makes it a criminal offense for couples to register at a hotel or lodging house under any but their true names and the Boston licensing board has prepared a very excellent circular of registration, a copy of which is enclosed in the letter received by His Honor today. The communication also asks that the local license commission once more instruct saloon keepers and hotel men not to sell liquor to men in uniform, even though they may claim that they have been discharged from the service. It is anticipated that a large number of soldiers will put up the idea that they have been discharged from service and therefore are entitled to liquor. The law reads, however, that so long as a man wears the uniform of the United States he cannot be sold or given intoxicating liquors.

Mayor Thompson will refer both matters to the license commission.

LAST DAY OF RED CROSS MEMBERSHIP DRIVE

The final act in the Red Cross roll call for 1919 will be staged this evening in Edson hall when members of the teams which have been canvassing Lowell and the rest of North Middlesex county for the past week will assemble for dinner, dual reports and an address by Harold Perkins, a Red Cross worker who saw service on three fronts in the world war. Dinner will be served promptly at 6.30 and the Red Cross double quartet will be on hand to listen up matters with a song here and there. Today, the last of the campaign, was marked by super-effort on the part of the team workers to get every possible subscription corralled before tonight and as a result an exceptionally large grand total will be reported this evening.

RELIEF FUND FOR ARMENIA

A campaign for the relief of Christians in Armenia will be launched in Lowell on Sunday, Jan. 12 and will continue for one week. This city will be asked to contribute $30,000 as her quota of a nation-wide fund. Present plans call for the local campaign being directed by the pastors of every church in the city, no matter what its creed. It is planned to have a formal mass meeting on the opening afternoon of the drive and an effort is being made to secure President Lowell of Harvard university as one of the speakers.

CHRISTMAS SPIRIT IN LOWELL

The flame of the Christmas spirit of giving this year in Lowell seems to burn brighter and with more intensity than ever before and the proof of this that more women are engaged in good works involving a larger portion of their time and a greater amount of self-sacrifice than has ever been known in our community.

Early this morning several members of the Lowell Guild came downtown, not to continue their Christmas shopping, but to assist in the work of preparing baskets, which are to be sent out from the headquarters in Dutton street. When a representative from The Sun visited there today, the place presented a scene of busy activities. In the kitchen busy hands were wrapping countless jars of jelly, and sorting out vegetables. Huge pieces of squash reposed upon one shelf, while another was filled with potatoes. When the baskets are finally ready for distribution they will contain vegetables, jelly, chicken and some toys. Many automobiles were put at the disposal of the Guild today and it is expected that visits throughout the city will be made today and tomorrow. It has been the custom in past years to make donations to about 40 sick families, but this year it may be possible to send out a larger number of baskets.

At the Knights of Columbus rooms the returning soldiers, and men in uniform will get a very cordial welcome on Christmas morning. The local branch of the League of Catholic Women will serve a soldiers' breakfast at the K. of C. rooms Christmas day. From present indications there will not be many visitors at the Y.M.C.A. on Christmas day, as that no special program has been planned. In the morning the Red Cross cantine committee will serve free breakfast to the men in uniform, but it is expected that the building will be a rather quiet place during the remainder of the day. Owing to the fact that so many girls go away for the holiday this week, the Y.W.C.A. is not planning any special gatherings of any kind. The secretaries are very busy at present on the New Year's day program.

HIGH HONOR FOR PRES. WILSON

First Head of a Republic to Make Stay at Buckingham Palace

LONDON, Dec. 23.—It is expected that the entire day Friday, the day after President Wilson's arrival in England, will be devoted to a discussion by him with the British war cabinet, of the terms to be proposed by Great Britain at the inter-allied conference preceding the peace congress.

The cabinet, it is said, will be able to finish by tomorrow night the task of framing the terms, and the final draft should be ready by Christmas day.

LONDON, Dec. 22.—The first organized scheme of street decoration in London since the beginning of the war, is being arranged for President Wilson's visit. There was a big display of flags when the armistice was declared and likewise for the reception of Marshal Foch and Field Marshal Haig, but these demonstrations were entirely spontaneous and lacking in harmony.

The entire route from the railway station to Buckingham palace will be elaborately and systematically decked with standards linked with streamers.

Government departments were busily engaged today in perfecting the details of the preparations for the president's entertainment. There was likewise considerable activity at Buckingham palace. President Wilson is not only the first head of a republic to make a stay at the palace, but the first as guest of honor to be accompanied by his wife. As the wife of a president has no official status, the court has a problem in etiquette to decide, regarding Mrs. Wilson.

When President and Mrs. Wilson arrive at Manchester on Sunday evening after their visit to Carlisle, they will be conducted to the town hall, remaining there as guests of the lord mayor and lady mayoress. Secretary Lansing and Col. House are expected to accompany them.

If time permits, President Wilson on Monday will be taken through the principal streets of Manchester returning to the town hall at noon to receive the freedom of the city. Afterwards it is planned to give a luncheon in his honor.

After President Wilson is presented with the freedom of the city at the Guildhall on Saturday, he will lunch with the lord mayor at Mansion House, proceeding thence to Buckingham palace by way of the Thames embankment. The freedom of the city will be placed in a handsome gold casket which will be sent to the president later as it will not be finished in time for the ceremony itself.

Why Our Customers Come Back

What is it that makes a man go back again and again to the same store to buy goods that he might buy in any one of a dozen places?

What is it that makes YOU go back time after time for other goods?

The way I figure it out is a combination of a good many things—some of them common and some of them not so common.

Of course it goes without saying that you must get the right goods and must be convinced that they are worth the price charged. And equally, of course you must be reasonably sure that the goods will be delivered at the time agreed upon.

But I think it goes further than that. There is a certain almost indefinable quality in a store that makes you prefer to give them your business if you can.

It is a feeling of CONFIDENCE. Not only that a certain store is equipped to deliver the goods, but that they are moved by a sincere desire to look after your interests, and give you what you want when you want it.

You want to feel that they have standards and ideals which they live up to on PRINCIPLE.

Just as you sometimes see shining out through a man's eyes sincerity, honesty and a natural love for the square deal, so you will sometimes see those old-fashioned qualities standing out through the actions of a retail establishment.

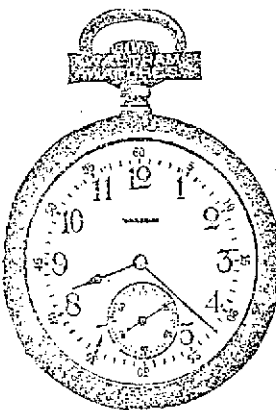

And that is what MAKES OUR CUSTOMERS COME BACK.

LOWELL'S WELCOME TO RETURNED FIGHTERS

Lowell will have her first formal reception to her returned soldiers, sailors and marines on Sunday, Feb. 2, if the idea of the committee appointed by Governor McCall to welcome returning fighters is carried out locally.

Mayor Thompson received a letter from this committee today outlining plans for the reception of returning men throughout the state. The letter urges that the citizens give the home-coming soldiers and sailors as hearty and splendid a welcome as possible.

It is thought that by the first of February a large portion of men will have returned. The state committee's plans call for successive exercises on the first Sundays of March and April and on April 19 there will undoubtedly be enough men home to stage a really stupendous affair. These plans are more or less suggestions and their being carried out here in Lowell will depend, of course, how soon Lowell men return and in what numbers.

BOY DROWNED IN THE MERRIMACK RIVER

Emilien Piche, the 7-year-old son of Fred and Euphemie Piche, of 183 Perkins street, was drowned in the Merrimack river Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The fatality occurred at a point near the foot of Perkins street, the youngster, in company with several of the boys in the neighborhood having been enjoying themselves by sliding down the side of the dump at that place, which is now a good coasting spot, when the momentum of the little fellow's sled carried him into the river. He sank immediately before help could reach him.

Undertakers Archambault & Sons were notified and instituted a search for the body but did not succeed in recovering it. The boy leaves his parents and several brothers and sisters.

KAISER CUTS TREES FOR XMAS CELEBRATION

LONDON, Dec. 23.—William Hohenzollern has arranged for himself a Christmas celebration after the traditional German style, as far as the circumstances will permit, according to a despatch to the Daily Express from Amsterdam today.

The arrangements at his insistence will include elaborate religious ceremonies on Christmas eve. The idea of using the village chapel for these, however, has proved impracticable for various reasons, one of them being the fear of popular hostile demonstrations. The service, accordingly will be held in the drawing room of Amerongen castle which will be converted into a chapel.

STREET CARS HEATED

Patrons of the Bay State street railway will be glad to hear that the cold trolley cars which caused many a shiver during the cold months of last winter are not to reappear again this season. The company states that this winter it is possible to heat the cars, and has issued the following notice in that respect:

"The Bay State Street Railway Co. has today issued orders to all of its trainmen regarding the heating of cars this winter. The coal situation is such that the company is enabled to return to normal heating conditions as specified by the public service commission, and the orders issued provide for maintaining heat in all cars in accordance with normal requirements."

"Conductors are also instructed to pay special attention to the ventilation of their cars. The management has received complaints from the board of health and the general public that the cars are not properly ventilated. On the other hand, some find fault with too much ventilation. Conductors are expected to exercise good judgment in the matter."

A SPLENDID RECORD OF ACHIEVEMENT

JOSEPH E. SULLIVAN

Within a year, in fact to be exact, February 9, 1918, in a small room in the old Boston & Maine station, two young men started in the printing business. What they lacked in capital they more than made up in BRAINS and PERSEVERANCE. They founded their business upon two fundamental principles of successful endeavor—SERVICE and SATISFACTION. A customer for the first time has always become a permanent satisfied customer, otherwise no expansion would have been possible, and Sullivan Brothers would not have found it necessary to enlarge their PRINTING FACILITIES THREE TIMES within such a brief period.

SUCCESS and PROGRESS are not founded upon chance. If the first job from the standpoint of QUALITY and PRICE did not please they would have no permanent customers on their books today. When a firm or individual continues a business relation month after month with Sullivan Brothers, it is for no other reason than that SERVICE and SATISFACTION are assured.

Hon. John T. Sparks Tells of His Experiences as K. of C. Secretary in France

Hon. John T. Sparks, who spent seven months in France as a Knights of Columbus secretary, speaks interestingly of his general experiences "over there," although he is not inclined to go into detail concerning the work which he personally did in the war zone.

Mr. Sparks went to Camp Devens as a secretary early in the year and after short preliminary training at the cantonment, went overseas on April 15.—He landed in Bordeaux, April 27, with seven other K. of C. secretaries and remained on duty at Bordeaux until Oct. 1. Later he went to Paris for a short time and subsequently to Le Mans. Here illness developed that eventually necessitated his discharge and return to this country. His health is much improved already, he says.

Upon becoming ill he returned to Paris and stayed there three weeks. Then he went to Tours. He missed the peace celebration in Paris but returned to the French capital a few days after the signing of the armistice and experienced a little of the feverish atmosphere of the great city at that time.

While in Tours at the American headquarters station he was released from his duties because of poor health and the attending physician recommended that he be sent home at once. He returned to Paris and left for home Dec. 1 on the steamship La Lorraine. The trip back to this country was somewhat delayed owing to an intense fog and when the vessel docked in New York a week ago today it was five days overdue.

Mr. Sparks brought home personal messages from men in France to relatives in this city and for the past few days he has devoted a large part of his time to carrying out this duty. The secretary met many Lowell men in France and among them were three other K. of C. secretaries from this city, John Salmon, Thomas Beane and John Daly. He said that when Mr. Salmon arrived in France he issued the ultimatum that he either be assigned to duty at the front or sent home. His request was granted and Mr. Salmon was enabled to play an active part in the war and he never tired of his work. Finally he was gassed and had to retire from the front. He was scheduled to leave for home Dec. 19.

Among the places of interest which Mr. Sparks visited were Blois, Pau, Dax, Paderaux, Lourdes and Versailles. Upon one occasion he stood within 20 feet of King George when the latter was decorating troops for distinguished service. He visited various art galleries and other places of historical interest.

The former senator pays a high tribute to the men of the American army and says that their courage and persistency enabled them to overcome seemingly insurmountable obstacles.

Among the passengers on La Lorraine with Mr. Sparks on the homeward journey were Mary Garden, Mrs. Vincent Astor, John J. Evans, Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Capt. Patrick O'Brien, the famous English aviator, and many other noted people.

Memorial Service Yesterday —Bishop Alexandros Preaches at Local Church

A solemn high mass at the Greek Orthodox church, followed by a memorial service for the sailors and soldiers of the Greek race, who gave up their lives in the great world war, a dinner at the Richardson hotel and a mass meeting at Associate hall in the evening, marked the visit of Bishop Apostolos Alexandros of New York to this city yesterday. This was the first time that a Greek bishop visited Lowell and the occasion was one to be long remembered by the several thousand members of the community.

Bishop Alexandros arrived in this city Saturday afternoon escorted by officers of the community, who met him in Boston and shortly after his arrival the distinguished visitor was entertained at luncheon. Yesterday morning at 11 o'clock His Grace celebrated the high mass at the Holy Trinity church in Jefferson street. He was assisted by Rev. Fr. Angelidakis, Rev. Nicholas Manitis of this city and Rev. Dimitrios Georginas of Princeton, and formerly of this city. In the course of the sermon the bishop delivered a very interesting and instructive sermon on the subject of Christ healing the woman who was sick of the palsy and of the Pharisee who scoffed at the healing on the Lord's day.

At the close of the mass a memorial service to the memory of the deceased sailors and soldiers, who gave up their lives in the recent war, was held, the principal speaker being Dr. D. Generalis. Attending the service were Mayor Perry D. Thompson, Judge Thomas J. Enright, John J. Hogan and Miss Hogan. At the close of the service a dinner was served to fifty guests at the Richardson house with Constantinos Vargapopoulos, president of the community, acting as toastmaster.

At 7:30 o'clock in the evening a mass meeting was held in Associate hall and the attendance filled the large hall to its capacity. President Vargapopoulos presided and the principal speakers were Bishop Alexandros and Apostolos Macheros, Greek consul general in Boston, who dwell upon the part the Greeks had taken in the war and extolled them for their devotion to a just cause.

every day up to Saturday. In the early part of the evening Saturday he complained of being ill and some time later he was found dead. He is survived by a sister, who resides in Malden.

TO AVOID AND RELIEVE INFLUENZA

BY DR. FRANKLIN DUANE

Many people have been frightened by what they have read or heard of influenza. The more you fear the disease, the surer you are to get it. Go right about your business and forget it. As the disease is spread principally by contact through sneezing, coughing or spitting, many health authorities have advised that everyone wear a gauze which is daily washed and saturated with a one to five hundred solution of zinc sulphate in water, and then dried before wearing over the nose and mouth. You should avoid crowds, common drinking cups and public towels. Keep your strength up by taking lots of exercise in the open air and plenty of nourishing food.

If you have any of such symptoms as chilliness, nasal obstructions, flushed face, headache, nervousness, restlessness, weakness, or irritating cough, give up work at once and go to bed. You will save your strength to help overcome the disease. Put your feet in hot water for fifteen minutes. Thoroughly loosen the bowels with physic as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pills. Drink principally of hot lemonade and then cover up with plenty of clothes in the bed. Take a good cat. When sweating is free and the fever reduced take a dose of two Anuric Tablets every four hours, followed by drinking at least a glass or two of hot water. Anuric Tablets help quickly to relieve the soreness of the muscles and bones from which most patients complain and help the kidneys flush out the poisons.

To relieve nasal obstructions and excessive discharge from the nose, probably nothing is better than such a mild, soothing, antiseptic wash as Dr. Saxe's Catarrh Remedy. It will give great relief. Employed as a gargle, in same strength as made up for use in the nose, and as hot as can be borne, it quickly arrests soreness and dries up the throat. Influenza weakens the patient's resistance to disease, so that there is danger of bronchitis and pneumonia developing. To combat this tendency and fortify the patient's strength insist that he keep in bed at least two days. Probably nothing will at this stage hasten the recovery and strengthen the patient more than an iron-tonic called "Ironie" or that well known herbal tonic, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which has been used by thousands in the past two generations.

BE CAUTIOUS

Low resistance invites germ-infection. It's essential that you be cautious in matters of health. A bottle or two of taken at the crucial period may afford you a world of benefit. As a precaution, use Scott's often. It helps keep resistance normal.

Why malted milk was originated

—because of the impossibility of obtaining good milk at all times and in all places

To the North and South Poles "Horlick's Malted Milk," writes Captain Peary, "was always on the firing line; no field party was dispatched without it, and it never failed to make good promptly and satisfactorily." Captain Amundsen, discoverer of the South Pole, writes: "Our way to the pole is littered with boxes stamped 'Horlick's,' giving full evidence of the liberal use made of your splendid Malted Milk." Also taken by Steffansen and the Scott polar expedition.

PREVIOUS to 1883 it was necessary to add milk to all prepared foods for the infant and invalid, in order to make a properly balanced diet. But it was difficult and often impossible to obtain good milk in cities and tropical climates.

The vital problem of how to supply a reliable milk for people of all ages in any climate that would be available at all times, was finally solved by HORLICK of Racine, Wis., U. S. A., after years of labor and experiment.

HORLICK discovered a process of reducing fresh milk by careful evaporation in a vacuum to a powder form, which contained all the valuable constituents of fresh milk, would keep indefinitely in any climate, and yet be soluble in hot or cold water.

This was the first time in history that milk was reduced to a powder form, soluble in water, retaining its natural qualities when dissolved, and with all the valuable Vitamines

(which are destroyed by ordinary cooking) preserved intact.

To good rich milk HORLICK added the valuable extract of Malted Barley and Wheat, containing all the nutrition of these grains, and reduced them to a powder form, with permanent keeping qualities, and soluble in water. It was found that by the action of the Malt ferments on the milk, its digestibility was markedly increased over ordinary milk, so as to render it easily assimilated by the weak stomach of the infant, the invalid, and the aged.

This well balanced milk food was thus perfected, which a third of a century's experience has amply proved capable in itself of supporting infant and adult life.

This new milk food HORLICK named Malted Milk; it has proved a boon to thousands upon thousands, from infancy to old age, of every race and clime, and is to be found in every city in the civilized world.

A blessing to the aged Nutrition with digestibility makes Horlick's Malted Milk the ideal food for the aged. Maximum nourishment with a minimum tax on the digestion

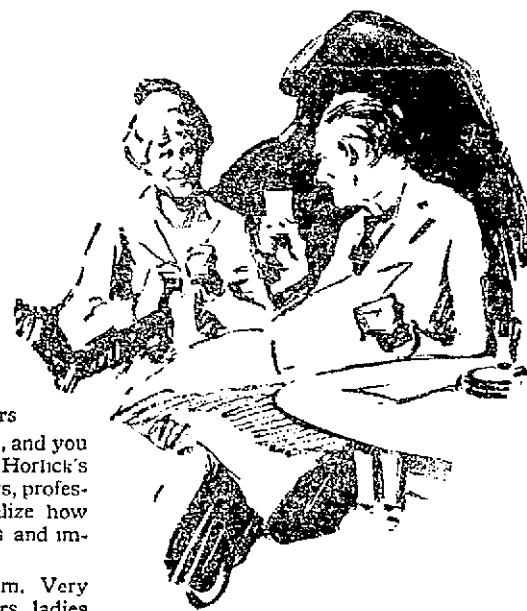

In Europe's great war hospitals Large quantities of Horlick's Malted Milk are being used in the war hospital service of the various allied nations, to the alleviation of much suffering. In hospitals all over the world, as well as in the sick room, Horlick's is endorsed and used by the medical profession as a standard diet for invalids and convalescents. Sample package mailed free upon request.

The standard food for babies Hundreds of thousands of infants, deprived of mother's milk, have been reared on Horlick's to robust childhood. Thousands of photographs and testimonials from all parts of the world are on file in our offices. Sample package mailed free upon request.

Used by thousands of business workers Walk into any soda fountain anywhere, at noon, and you will see business men and women partaking of Horlick's Malted Milk. More and more, business workers, professional men, and students are coming to realize how heavy foods at luncheon dull mental alertness and impair efficiency. Horlick's Malted Milk is also put up in Tablet form. Very convenient for business men, travelers, aviators, ladies when shopping, etc., since a small package, sufficient for a lunch or two, or a day's ration, may be kept on the desk, in the home, or in the pocket.

HOUSING PROBLEMS

In a discussion of health matters before the International Institute on Palmer street, Dr. Simpson pointed out some necessary steps to improve the sanitary conditions of our city. He referred to the need of exercising the authority vested in the board of health to declare tenements unfit for habitation, when the sanitary conditions warrant such action.

Yes, when the sanitary conditions do, but who is to decide upon the standard of such sanitary conditions? Miss Cotter, secretary of the Social Service league, brought up this question of deciding when a tenement is unfit for habitation. This is a very pertinent question and one upon which there is very little unanimity among health officials. As a result, we very seldom hear of any building, no matter how bad it is, being declared unfit for habitation. The people themselves are the judges and when they find a building in bad condition they usually move out, but sometimes not until they have suffered from disease or perhaps have lost one or more members by death.

Miss Cotter's idea is one that should result in action. The board of health should decide upon standards of air space, ventilation, lighting, and the number of occupants for tenements of any given size. Until these standards are established, it will be practically impossible for any board of health to exercise its authority intelligently upon this matter. Similarly, it will be impossible for property owners to know what the health authorities demand in the poorest class of tenements. The board of health should set about this work of establishing proper housing standards and should condemn every tenement that falls below the minimum.

Unless definite sanitary standards are fixed as here suggested, it will be very difficult to make any progress towards solving the housing problem which, in the congested districts, requires prompt attention.

It would be a grave mistake to assume that the property owner is most largely responsible for the worst evils in the housing conditions. Far from it! On the contrary, the tenants themselves, in nine cases out of ten, are the chief offenders against sanitation. Hundreds of families seem to prefer filth to anything else. They live in tenements for one, two or more years, and during all that time they will do no cleaning whatever. Most housekeepers have a house cleaning at least twice a year; but the families here referred to do not have one in five years.

The revelations brought out in the recent canvass of the city, during the influenza epidemic, showed beyond a doubt where the trouble in our housing conditions chiefly lies. The board of health may find it a rather delicate matter to institute house-to-house inspection in order to detect and eradicate unsanitary conditions; but noting that, it seems, will serve to bring about the desired result. Some families let filth accumulate in their houses until it becomes an abomination, even to themselves, and they then move away, leaving to the property owner or to the next tenant, the task of cleaning after them; and this is done by some who put on airs and even find fault with the property they have seriously damaged by their laziness and neglect.

With some families, the need of ventilation seems to be entirely overlooked and little children are kept in a stifling atmosphere under conditions which make it surprising that they live as long as they do. Children are being slowly murdered through the unsanitary conditions due to ignorance, neglect, laziness and intemperance.

There is certainly a housing problem to be attended to by our health authorities; but there is a far greater health problem to be grappled with in teaching certain families the merest rudiments of clean and sanitary living or compelling them to live up to the simplest rules of sanitation.

There is assuredly a field here for social workers and yet conditions are no worse in this city than will be found in any other cosmopolitan city.

HOUNDING THE PRESIDENT

It is to be regretted that a number of republican leaders in congress, including Senators Lodge, Knox and others, are endeavoring to discredit President Wilson in the eyes of foreign nations, claiming that he does not, at the present time, represent the American people, and that he has not the right to speak for the United States on the principles that should form the basis of a peace treaty in settlement of the world war.

These republican "statesmen" affect to be particularly opposed to the league of nations. Senator Lodge holds that it should be left over until all the other questions shall have been settled, which would mean undoubtedly that there would be no such league.

Senator Knox is working on a different policy, which is to shake the confidence of the allied nations in the practicability of President Wilson's idea as applied to the situation, to be considered at the conference. He paints the president as holding to Utopian ideas that cannot be realized. He urges the adoption of a more conservative policy, as he calls it, than that favored by President Wilson.

The republican organs throughout the country take up the speeches of Senators Lodge and Knox and all the other critics of the president, and gloat over them as proof that President Wilson is "chasing rainbows," so to speak, and trying to foist his "visionary ideas" upon the powers with which the United States is united in the great war. Special correspondents of these papers send dispatches from Paris similarly trying to discredit President Wilson and to show that the speeches of republican senators are having the desired effect in causing foreign nations to regard the president as having been repudiated by the American people.

All this method of disparaging President Wilson before the world is nothing more or less than republican political propaganda. There is no patriotism or honesty in it. It is pure hypocrisy. It is part of the campaign against the possibility of the president seeking a third term.

Senator Lodge, some months ago, gave out a statement of his views as to the essential conditions of the peace treaty. They were very similar to those of President Wilson, except that he would not make any provision for a league of nations. His terms are now being published in the papers of Paris as a sort of counterblast to the terms laid down by President Wilson. Republican correspondents in France are carrying out the same policy adopted here by the newspapers they represent, and thus the work of harassing President Wilson is conducted on a general plan with systematic regularity and more or less damaging effect.

Occasionally in these attacks on President Wilson, some of the papers betray the inconsistency and dishonesty of the whole scheme. While one set of critics are assailing the president's terms of peace, another comes out to criticize him for not giving out in advance what are his present views upon the peace terms which he will favor in the conference. Meanwhile, President Wilson is getting the views of the different nations concerned and endeavoring to reach the conclusions which will best serve the interests of the United States, the peace of the world and the cause of humanity. These are the issues which he will endeavor to have embodied in the peace treaties and although republican senators boast that they will not sign any treaty that does not meet their approval, yet it is quite probable that the president will carry all his main points at the conference and when the treaty reaches the senate, the men who are now shouting and spouting against the president will not dare reject the compact because it embraces the great principles of freedom and international policy to which President Wilson stands committed.

ARE WE SKEPTICS?

The New York Sun in a recent issue, dropped the ridicule of President Wilson long enough to express profound astonishment at the fact that an eminent surgeon, William W. Keen of Philadelphia, in a magazine article professes belief in the immortality of the soul.

In an age in which, according to the New York luminary, "the prevalent attitude" to immortality of the soul "appears one of indifference or expressed doubt," perhaps it is not strange that the editor expresses wonderment that an eminent surgeon should hold to a belief that according to that writer's view, had become unpopular or obsolete among "great thinkers" and progressive men.

Does he regard medical men as atheistic or does he assume that the belief in a future life is now so uncommon that it requires courage in a public man boldly to profess it?

The lesson taught by Dr. Keen was needed in the office of the New York Sun, if we are to judge from the cogitations of the editor upon this episode. He appears to believe that the United States is a nation of pagans; and his editorial would have been timely in the days of Socrates, when men of great intellect were beginning to realize and acknowledge that there is a Supreme Being and that there is a spiritual part of man that "was not born to die."

But as atheists deny the existence of God, they cannot logically believe in the immortality of the soul, and hence they, of course, believe that the vast majority of the human race, who believe in a future life, together with all the great teachers and guides who have been inspired by God, were merely a lot of fakers.

We do not agree with the editor of the New York Sun that belief in the immortality of the soul is now or ever was in this nation, nearly so rare as he alleges. The belief has received a fresh impetus as a result of the war; and we venture to predict that for the next generation at least, the agnostics will find themselves the rares aves in this republic.

In the announcement that Lowell textile unions, acting as part of the concerted movement of all textile unions in the country, were soon to petition the mill owners of the city to have the industry conducted on a 48 hour a week basis, most of us will know that going that far in the negotiations, there will probably be no conflict of opinion between the petitioners and the mill owners. It is noticeable that the textile workers do not seek the basic 8 hour day and they do not at present ask for 9 hours' pay for 8 hours' work. Mill owners in Lowell have expressed themselves as rather pleased that their industry might be run on the 48 hours a week schedule, owing to the uncertainty of conditions they look for in the cotton goods market for the next six months. Here is a rare instance where both parties, according to present indications, may get suited.

Lowell entertains a new-old guest today, in the person of Winter, who officially arrived here about 10.42 a. m. yesterday morning. Even if there ought to have been a reception committee at the station to welcome him, it's a fact that there wasn't any. Winter must put up with the welcome he can find here. He is no ally of the filled or partly filled coal bin and in his baggage there is invariably plenty of influenza and pneumonia germs, as the result of whose attacks some of us may never see Winter again. But thus far, the mildness of the newcomer is in striking contrast with the horrors of frigidity he scattered here one year ago.

The "white book" of the German government—some kind of a German government—in the announced determination of its compilers to circulate it for the general purpose of telling the truth about the start of the war, so far as Germany is concerned, faces a gigantic task. For one thing, the outside world refuses to believe the truth is to be found in Germany, that it is an element that must be carried into the country before it can be found there. And in the color of the book, white, is its significance in the fact that white denotes the abject surrender of Germany, or that Germany was pure and sinless in what she had to do with starting the war?

Report comes to Lowell from Boston that many returned and mustered out soldiers who have secured jobs and, owing to a lack of funds, have not been able to buy a suit of civilian clothing, have been discharged because they had to wear their uniform while at work. It attracts too much notice, say the employers who have done this. There is no doubt that this has happened and it could happen in Boston when it wouldn't be apt to happen in any other city. But how much to the shame of these employers and to that community it is, that the employers should be so mean to the men who stood between them and the flu.

When the peace delegates gather around the table to set Europe's house in order again, let us hope that amidst all that array of statesmanship there may be at least one man who, if somewhat short on statesmanship, may possess the leavening talent of being a good story teller and have a lot of new ones on tap. Good humor and amiability certainly should not be absent from any important discussion. There are times when concentrated dignity is as deadly to progress as concentrated poison.

The citizens of Krupp, in the state of Washington, it must be said, are certainly somewhat late in arriving at the determination to change the name of their home yet, probably "better late than never." They are to call it Marlin, not after the name of the gun inventor, but a noted pioneer who settled in that vicinity many years ago.

SEEN AND HEARD

Why wait till the New Year to make good resolutions? Resolve now to save more money next year with which to buy Christmas presents.

This is the time of the year when a fellow tries to forget the diamond ring that he bought his sweetheart at Christmas—the sweetheart that jilted him.

There will be little doing in the stores Thursday morning and if you should want to buy anything you better take a whistle along with which to announce your presence for the girl clerks will be busily engaged in discussing diamond rings, who got them and who didn't. Of course there will be a little jealousy go with the discussion. That's natural.

Everybody said that when the soldiers would return either from the cantonments or over there, the girls wouldn't have any further use for the fellows who held tight to their mother's apron strings at home, but things don't always pan out as presaged. We see fine looking fellows in khaki wandering, aimlessly like, about the street while girls flirt with little pinheads wearing wasp coats.

I saw him standing and gazing, wistfully like, at a Salvation Army Kettle. The thought occurred to me that he was longing for some of the nickels and dimes that the kettle contained. I judged his age to be eight or nine. There was a sort of sadness about the little face that attracted me to him. I spoke and finally asked him if there was anything he wanted.

"I want a nickel," he said, "to put in there," pointing to the kettle. I gave him the nickel and he returned with joy beaming in his face that was sad of expression but a moment before.

"Here's a nickel for yourself," I said, proffering the coin.

"I don't want a nickel for myself. I only wanted it for the Salvation Army," he said. "We had a letter from me brudder a long time ago and he said the Salvation Army people was the kindest people in the world and that when he comes home he will give them some money every Saturday night out of his pay. You know my brudder is a soldier and he's somewhere in France."

I asked if he had heard from his brother lately and he said his "mudder" had no letter for a long time. I wondered then if the brave fellow whose letter inspired in the lad at home his love for the Salvation Army people would ever come back to share his pay, as he said in his letter, with the Salvation Army.

All Located

In a recent trial in the Shawnee county court it was necessary for the jury to know the whereabouts of all the members of a negro family at a certain time. So the witness was asked:

"Where was Mary?"
"In de back yard."
"Where was Jane?"
"Upstairs in de front room."
"Where was Ann?"
"She was on de front porch."
"And where was Elizabeth?"
"She was in de pantry takin' a bath."
"Topeka Pink Rag."

Different Talk for Dogs

Prof. R. H. Reynolds, head of the modern language department in an academy in San Rafael, Calif., has two collie dogs. Father and son, Marco, the elder responds to his master only when addressed in English. Bozaris, the son, understands and obeys commands given in French and Spanish, but stands motionless when his sire is addressed.

"There is nothing wonderful about it," Reynolds says. "It was as easy to teach the young dog a Latin tongue as it was to instruct his father in English. Marco occasionally betrays signs of jealousy when I hold protracted conversation in a foreign language with his son, but a word in English smooths things out and brings a wag of the dog's tail."

"It may have been unfair to endow the son with accomplishments denied the father, but it is a rule of life and I think Marco understands as well as do thousands of other doting fathers."

Small Savings

A great French banker was once asked the secret of French thrift and he replied, "Compound interest." Just as constant waste, even in little things, may change one's life from success to failure, so the steady saving of money will eventually bring independence, if not actual wealth.

Let us analyze the statements made by the Frenchman.

There are very few people who cannot without any convenience make over lay aside 10 cents a day. Within 10 years one's daily savings of this insignificant amount will amount to $365, in addition to $90.56 compound interest, making a total of $455.56 to show for one's saving just 10 cents a day for 10 years.

By saving 15 cents a day for 10 years with interest compounded at 4 per cent, one will have the comfortable sum of $685.18; 20 cents a day will net $890.95. Save 50 cents a day for 10 dollars and you will have $2,277.53. A dollar a day will give you a total of $4,555.71 for the 10-year period. All of these figures are based on the savings being put out at 4 per cent compound interest.

Look back over the last 10 years of your life today. Be honest with yourself! Look facts squarely in the face! Could you not have saved 50 cents a day, or a quarter a day, or possibly a dollar a day?

It might have pinched you now and then to do so; it might have meant the surrender of a few good times, a few luxuries or extravagances. But it would have meant a substantial sum for you—something that would add immeasurably to your peace, peace of mind and self-confidence.—Thrill Magazine.

The Annual Puzzle

Now what the deuce did Wiley say that she would like this year? I'm such an absent-minded jay I've clear forgot I fear I fear I fear something to wear I think it was. Oh dear, oh me, oh my! (I'd like to shoot old Santa Claus) Well—I'll remember by and by.

Harry also dropped a hint. What he'd been craving for. I don't mind bringing home the mint. But shopping I labor.

A smoking jacket wouldn't do. He doesn't use the weed. What he wanted was a lined me, too. My memory's gone indeed.

There's Susie, too. I promised her I'd suit her something. Was it fur. A ring, a cloak, a hat? Great Scott, Altho' it's cold I'm getting hot. My brain is all into a muddle. (There he stopped right in that puddle). Susie wanted, let me see. Aw shucks, I'm fairly up a tree.

Then there's the kids, Tad, Flo and Jess. Oh dear, my mind's all in a mess. I know it was some kind of a mess. That was about with lots of noise. But what they were I just can't think. It's enough to make me take a drink. This thinking's got me feeling funny. I'll just give each of them some money.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

It is not often one gets the chance to sit in a place of worship and, by the appearance of the interior, be able to have a vivid idea of how churches used to look in the olden time when the sole means of lighting the edifices

Sunday evenings was by candles. At the First Congregational church, Merrimack street, last Sunday evening, 1400 seats were illuminated only by candles. The hundreds of candles used and the singing of the Christmas carols of all nations were quite impressive.

The war is over or nearly so, but I see we are to have a "camouflaged Christmas tree," as our municipal tree. The camouflaged part of it comes in this respect. The tree had many of its limbs broken while being brought to Lowell from Pelham and truth to tell it wasn't a very good looking tree by the time the park commissioners gave it the twice over after it had been brought to the front of city hall. Ingeniously enough, however, park commission employees bored holes in the trunk of the tree and procuring some good limbs from a point much nearer Lowell than Pelham, by the way, the ends of these limbs have been sharpened and stuck into the bored out holes so that when the job is done, it will be a fairly good looking tree. It is to have the usual electrical decorations of the star on top of the tree and the little varicolored electric lights. It would have been a good idea, many people think, to have speeded this municipal Christmas tree along so that it could have been lighted up the first time last Saturday evening but from the way the tree looked Saturday afternoon, it was quite some way from receiving its final touches.

There is every indication that the high school street painted red which has encumbered the Kirk street vacant lot for many months and has been the poorest kind of a decoration for that land as well as an exceedingly good reminder of how poorly we carry on some of our municipal business, is to be augmented by the rough looking battered boards which the agents of the United States government enthusiastically put up to mark where the dormitories on Kirk street were to be built. The piles of lumber have been taken away but the battered boards remain. I expect they will stay there right through the winter. What is everybody's business is nobody's business. It would have been better if they had been removed when the lumber was taken away.

The Anne street market is not by any means through doing business for 1918. I saw three farmer's trucks there Saturday afternoon and the farmers or their boys were doing a fairly good business in winter vegetables and apples. None of the farmers seemed to have Christmas wreaths or evergreen to sell. The wreaths of even a rather inferior quality sell for 35 cents each and it seemed strange the farm women had not improved what would have undoubtedly been a good opportunity to earn some extra holiday money, by giving the meek folk some wreaths to sell.

LINER CEDRIC ARRIVES WITH MANY AMERICAN TROOPS

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—The Cedric arrived in port today, from Liverpool, carrying American troops.

HINDENBURG CONCENTRATES BIG FORCE OF SOLDIERS IN POSEN

ZURICH, Dec. 23. (Havas.)—Field Marshal von Hindenburg, according to reports received here from Germany, has concentrated a large force of soldiers in Posen.

Posen is German Poland. Polish nationalists have claimed it as part of the new Poland and Polish troops have invaded the territory. According to reports from Berlin last week, the Polish government has ordered elections to be held in several parts of Posen. Danzig, the Baltic port occupied by Polish forces last week, is in Posen.

railway company, was paid off by the cashier in the Lowell office. All employees of the company, whether instructors, motormen, conductors, car barn and track men or construction force share in this glad event. About 400 men are affected by this increase on the local lines, and in many cases the men will today draw $50 or more dollars of back pay. One individual was found to have $57 waiting for him, and this is the highest noted as yet. It was stated that checks would average from $50 to $50.

This bonus which the employees receive in a lump sum today covers the period from Oct. 1 to Dec. 7 and varies in amount in accordance with the number of hours worked by the men. The wage schedule formerly in effect made it necessary for a new man to start at the rate of 25 cents per hour, and he then worked on a sliding scale until at the end of six years he was entitled to the maximum rate of 23.5 cents per hour, plus a bonus of 7 cents.

Under this schedule a man could not hope for more than 40.5 cents per hour at the most, while the new schedule provides that a new employee shall start work at the rate of 41 cents per hour, which is the rate for the first three months. The next nine months the rate is 43 cents, and after one year the employee received the maximum rate of 45 cents.

The payments began at noon today, and wound up at about 6 o'clock. In order that the men might receive the money before the holiday, the Boston office force has put in a large amount of overtime work, with the result that the various amounts for the entire employees on all lines of the company were ready for payment at the various branch offices through the state.

Officials of the company said today that evidently anticipating an exceptionally enjoyable holiday as the result of the special pay roll today, an unusually large list of applicants have applied for the day off Christmas. The officials further stated that in order to accommodate the shopping public of the city, regular Saturday night service would be in effect on all of the local lines tonight and Christmas eve. Regular Sunday service will be effective on the holiday, but the cars will all make the regular "last trip" at 11:30.

COUGHING FOLLOWS INFLUENZA but FOLEY'S HONEY and TAR HELPS IT QUICKLY.

A cough that follows influenza or la grippe is not a trifling thing. If persistent it becomes a serious symptom indicating general debility.

Mr. Wm. Barnes of San Antonio, Tex., tells what Foley's Honey and Tar will do in such cases in a few brief words. "Early in the season I had the flu followed by pneumonia which left me weak and with a persistent cough. It hung on and kept me from resting, much needed rest and sleep. I was advised to try Foley's Honey and Tar and began taking it at once. Before bedtime I noticed a relief and that night I had a sound sleep and perfect night's rest. The first I had had since the beginning of the flu. I have now completely recovered and do not cough at all."

For all coughs, colds, tickling throat, hoarseness, stuffy wheezy breathing, and the cough that comes with whooping cough take Foley's Honey and Tar. Sold everywhere.

Jumped From Bridge

Unknown Man Makes High Dive and Does Not Show Up Again

At about 5:15 o'clock Saturday afternoon pedestrians on the Centralville bridge were startled by the sudden appearance of a man who climbed the railing near First street on the easterly side of the bridge and after divesting himself of his coat and hat executed a high dive from the bridge to the river.

The affair happened in such an incredibly short space of time that no one was able to put out a hand to prevent him. Nothing more was seen of him but it is believed he leaped to his death, for although the water at this point is rather shallow, it is extremely unlikely that a man would be able to come out of the river with wet clothes and minus coat and cap without attracting notice.

The man is believed to be Michael F. Casey, of Somerville, the only clue to his identity being a form from the National Employment Agency of this city which was found in his coat. The form was issued December 2 to Michael F. Casey, Somerville, 35 years old, and who was qualified as a laborer. The coat itself is made such style, and is of a blue tone with a white pencil stripe.

Efforts were made all day Sunday by Lieut. Connors and Sergt. Maguire to recover the body, and although they spent the better part of the day in dragging for it in the police boat, it has not yet been recovered.

ST. PATRICK'S ACADEMY ALUMNI
At a meeting of St. Patrick's Academy alumni which was held at the school hall in Suffolk street yesterday morning, it was voted to postpone the annual reunion and banquet to January 7. The meeting was presided over by President John Flannery and considerable business was transacted. Rev. Bro. Nihil, director of the school was present and he gave a very interesting talk. It was announced that the next meeting will be held next Thursday evening.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

Note.—Below is what the press agents of the different theatres say of the current attractions and of others to come later.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

Cecil Spenser's latest and best stage creation, "My Irish Cinderella," which is to be presented for Christmas week at the Lowell Opera House by the Emerson All Star Players, should rank with the best efforts of this capital and versatile aggregation of high-class entertainers. The first performance will be given this afternoon and twice daily for the remainder of the week with a special matinee on Friday afternoon, Dec. 27. Patrons should know that the players are establishing an enviable reputation for themselves in many phases of their work, particularly in their initial efforts each Monday afternoon and evening. Stage director, Glanville, is a stickler on having the entire company letter-perfect at the very first performance, and the result has been most satisfying and smooth presentation each Monday evening. They are quite as good as any given during the week-end.

"My Irish Cinderella" is a play in which Miss Jane Salsbury should add materially to her success as a stage favorite, already earned. She will appear in the charming role of Peggy, and as the "Irish Cinderella," and the part will offer her unusual opportunity to not only reflect her exceptional ability as an actress, but also her wonderful charm and personality. The story of the play is a simple little one—but effective for all that, and every character engaged in it will have a chance to display his or her talent. Mr. Julian Noss, the clever leading man of the cast, Charles Fyfe, and Arthur Buchanan, Miss

The advance sale of tickets for the week indicates capacity houses at most of the performances, and it would be wise to make reservations immediately. Better still, have your name placed on the subscription list and avoid trouble and disappointment. Tel. 251.

B. F. KEITH THEATRE

Heading the Christmas cheer bill at the B. F. Keith Theatre this week will be Harry Langdon, with Rose and Cecil, in their newest screamingly funny act, called "Johnny's New Car." The Langdons have followed the modern tendency all along in picturing things which are abreast of the times, and in this act they show what can happen—or what has frequently happened—when some fellow youth has tried out his new machine. Every line in the act is bright and witty, and the situations are so cleverly arranged that laughter invariably accompanies them.

J. C. Mack has grown old, interpreted in a certain type of woman. He isn't generally listed as a "female impersonator," because his impersonating is about eccentric comedy lines, much as was George Moore's. Mack's, however, is no more like Moore's than daylight is like darkness. Mack will long be remembered for his "Mother Goose" interpretations, and his present comedy, called "Mother's Day," is the direct outgrowth of that line of work, which made him such a great stage favorite. It is supported by a very good company.

"The Little Boho" is an original sketch which holds both ladies and gents. Maurice Samuels & Co. will present this new comedy, but of actors, which denotes the arrival from Russia, European country of the "green" immigrant, trying to get in touch with American ideas and feeling it very hard to do so.

Cerve, piano accompanist, is as full of warmth as the country from which he hails. The rendition in his hand produces a human voice, expressing all of the moods, and in the playing of his selections, he gives little touches of laughter, of tears, of tenderness. A trim little pair of singers and dancers are Lou and Jean Archer, who do what they do in an absolutely flawless style. The Joseph DeLois troupe of five jugglers do some marvelous work, while Catherine Powell is a classical dancer who learned her art in America.

John's hospital society, Hugh J. Molloy, president; John A. McKenna, secretary; Daniel J. Carroll, treasurer.

The committee in making its plea for help says that contributions towards the fund for St. John's to extend its work, may be sent either to Sister Mary Clare, superior of the religious order which administers the hospital, or to Mr. Daniel Carroll, treasurer.

Necessarily an institution of this character called upon repeatedly to receive and care for persons whose income before illness overtook them was not sufficient to accumulate a fund to be used in time of distress, certainly cannot be expected to be entirely self supporting and there have been so many and such a wide scope to the demands made upon the resources of St. John's, that this hospital has in often fall far short of being self supporting.

Consequently in the announcement signed by the above committee attention is called to the fact that in 1919 the community will notice that the hospital has been greatly enlarged and in a position to greatly extend its service. This includes the building of an addition to the hospital making it possible for the hospital to have 51 more beds together with three more new operating rooms. Included in the new announcement is the information that the Sisters of Charity, in charge of the hospital, believe there is great need that the hospital should at once interest itself in maternity and prenatal work, and the more so when it is realized, as was the case last week, that Lowell as a city, had the record highest infant mortality rate of any American city.

Inasmuch as St. John's in its work of mercy does not restrict its service and its skill to any one creed or belief, the committee sending out this request for funds to help the hospital, believes that probably the duty of helping St. John's is a duty in the fulfillment of which all citizens in Lowell will consider they have some personal share.

ST. JOHN'S HOSPITAL

great and helpful as its work in this community has already been, the work of ministering to all the sick and maimed who knock at its doors, in order that St. John's hospital may not only continue to maintain its efficiency but to do even more by means of its new facilities, this is the exact time when Lowell people, all of them, must give the most earnest consideration to the request for substantial financial help which is being sent out this week signed by the officers of St.

News of the Churches

Never in the present age were Christmas services in the local churches so impressive, so heart-reaching or so joyful as were those held in the local churches yesterday, the Sunday before Christmas, 1918.

Elaboration was especially dominant in the Protestant churches, while in the Catholic churches yesterday's services were of a more simple character in anticipation of the splendid services to be held on Christmas day itself.

However, those churches which held their main Christmas celebration yesterday gave evidence of the fact that this year's holiday is to be more deeply significant than it has been for years. The ending of the war, of course, was the underlying nucleus of the exceptional joy, thanksgiving and happiness expressed and this expression took many varied and beautiful forms.

Christmas shrubbery and floral decorations were everywhere to be seen. Christmas carols formed the major part of every musical program, candle-light services, wherein the congregations sang old-fashioned Christmas carols in auditoriums dark but for the faint glow of candles, were among the most beautiful expressions of joy and peace. And rarely did the preacher of the day talk on any but the all-dominant theme of Christmas day and its special significance this year.

The Catholic churches will have their great observance of the holiday on Wednesday and elaborate musical programs have been arranged. In practically every instance the late mass at 11 o'clock will be a solemn high mass and in the evening special music will accompany the vespers services.

Tomorrow will be the vigil of Christmas and will be a fast day. Confessions will be heard in the afternoon and evening.

First Baptist

Christmas anthems and carols were sung at the services of the First Baptist church, by the large choir, and the music was all very beautiful and inspiring. In the evening several representatives of Japan, India, China, Palestine and Armenia were present and spoke briefly at this "Oriental Night." Rev. A. C. Archibald preached a sermon yesterday morning on "Christmas, the New Day of Hope." His text was taken from the first chapter of Luke, dealing with the dawning of a new day and he said in part: "The events of Christmas time are so tender; it is the sweetest festival of the Christian church. This is the period of the year when joy and sorrow shake hands. This is the period of the year when we forgive and forget, and feel the spirit of brotherhood toward all mankind. There have been other great men who have accomplished great deeds and their names have been handed down through ages, such as Caesar, Charlemagne and many others. Why do we not observe their birthdays? Why do millions of people seek shrines to worship the child of Bethlehem, who was born in a cradle manger? The authority of Jesus has been like the rising sun, and today we bow not in homage to any of the great men of history, but to the son of God, the world's redeemer. The sun is rising, and the day is come. The old world is turning itself over and coming into a new hour, a new day and a new joy. He has come into the world to show us the face of God." Rev. Mr. Archibald then related a story of an eastern king who sent word to his people on his sick bed that his son would succeed him to the throne, and he wanted them to support him, for his heart was with his people, and he loved them very much. The people flocked to the palace gates, crying, "Let the king come to the gates, and show us his face." When the young prince appeared in his robes they knew him to be the same as he who had been among them, going about his father's business, and they cried, "We know thee; we recognize who thou art." Continuing he said: "This is the message of the Christmas day; that no man shall be without the knowledge of the face of God. There has come to us One who has made known the face of God, and we have been entertaining a citizen of the other world. Christ came into the world to cast out the demons that spell human life, character and the church. The Christmas hour brings a message of joy. What was in the heart of Mary, and in the city of Samaria? All is joy wherever the child of Bethlehem goes. Today over this old world of ours there surges the spirit of joy. He does the mailman and the expressman to about the city loaded down with heavy bundles? Why do people flock to the stores about this time of the year? Jesus entered a world full of hate and bigotry; out today marks the triumph of the Prince of Peace and of the ideals of the child of Bethlehem. This is the hilltop for God's people, for the Prince of Peace today has come, and brings to the world His redeeming love."

CHRISTMAS CAROLERS

Leader Asks That Singers Be Not Invited to Partake of Refreshments

Apparently the only divergence of previous custom in regard to Christmas eve carolers, which will be noticed tomorrow evening when Lowell's first community sponsored out of doors singing festival is started, is that persons in front of whose homes groups of singers will stop and sing, have been requested not to "gum the game" by inviting the group in to have refreshments.

Always in previous years and in nearly every community, it was a time honored custom for the person serenaded to invite the singers inside his home and dispense as liberal a brand of hospitality as his resources allowed. In the present instance Albert Edmund Brown, community singing leader, says that each group of singers has been given a route to "cover" with the probable number of homes to be visited will display the windows and signal calling for the group to stop and give its program of carols. The reason Mr. Brown has requested that persons serenaded do not serve refreshments is because it will necessarily hinder the progress of the group and prevent the group from going over its assigned route in its entirety.

The carolers will have but one hour, from 6 to 7, in which to cover their route and sing. In the homes where it is desired to have the carolers stop and sing, it will be necessary for the householder to put a lighted signal in the front window of his home, either electric lights, kerosene lamps or candles, candles preferably.

Shortly after 7 o'clock all the groups of carolers must be in front of city hall where the community Christmas tree will be lighted for the first time and where a community sing participated in by all the groups of carolers, the U. S. Cartridge company's band and citizens in general, led by Mr. Brown, will be held, to last probably one hour.

New groups of carolers are reporting through their leaders constantly to Director Brown and by Tuesday evening there may be at least 30 groups. The groups whose leaders have so far reported and been assigned routes are as follows:

Group 1—Leader, Miss Carrie Stewart; Pine, Westford, on south side of street.
Group 2—Leader, C. H. Howard; begin at Tyler park, work toward the city between Westford and Middlesex as far as Coral (Highland club).
Group 3—Leader, Albert Edmund Brown; streets of South common.
Group 4—Leader, Miss Davis; streets of South common.
Group 5—Leader, Miss Amy Tucker; between Broadway and Pawtucket sts. (Old Ladies' home).
Group 6—Leader, Mrs. E. L. McPhie; Andover street.
Group 7—Leader, Frederic O. Blount; St. Anne's church yard, Corporation hospital, York club, Ayer home and along Merrimack street.
Group 8—Leader, Mrs. A. Kennedy; High and adjacent streets.
Group 9—Leader, Mrs. Nana Gallagher; Leachy and adjacent streets.
Group 10—Leader, Miss Susan McEvoy; Pawtucketville, across the river.
Group 11—Leader, Peter Picken; Central and Gorham streets, (O'Leary home).
Group 12—Leader, Mrs. McLaughlin; back Fairmount street.
Group 13—Leader, Miss Marion Bradley; Highlands toward city from Coral and Osgood streets, both sides of Westford street.
Group 14—Leader, Mrs. M. E. Tucker; Beacon street district and Centralville Heights.
Group 15—Leader, Mr. Bonney; Moody and adjacent streets.
Group 16—Leader, Henry A. Hopkins; Market, Salem and lower Pawtucket streets.
Group 17—Leader, Miss Edith Sanders; upper Middlesex and side streets to the west.
Group 18—Leader, Miss Marion Ryan; under Oaklands.
Group 19—Leader, Red W. E. Woodbury; Fletcher, Varney, School, Butterfield, Mt. Vernon streets.
Group 20—Leader, Miss Genevieve Lawrence; the far Oaklands.
There may still be groups to be heard from, and if leaders have not already done so they should at once telephone to the director of community singing, Albert Edmund Brown, 505 Sun building.

STATIONARY FIREMEN ELECT OFFICERS

A very interesting meeting of the members of the Stationary Firemen's union was held yesterday afternoon at 32 Middle street with President Thomas P. Quinn in the chair. Six applications for membership were received and four new members were initiated. A feature of the meeting was the election of officers for the ensuing term, which resulted as follows: Thomas P. Quinn, president; William J. Hunt, vice president; John W. Downing, corresponding and recording secretary and treasurer; John P. Dean, Mitchell Sullivan and Thomas Galvin, trustees; delegates to the Trades and Labor Council, Thomas P. Quinn, John W. Downing, J. W. Quinn, John T.

Hendricks, Thomas J. McGee, William J. Hunt and Dominic Meehan. Past President Michael Connelly was named as the installing officer.

It was voted to change the quarters of the organization to 233 Central street and routine business was transacted. It was announced that no settlement had been effected in the grievances existing between the union and the local cotton mills and that the matter was now in the hands of the Cotton Manufacturers' association.

TO REMOVE DANDRUFF

Get a small bottle of Danderine at any drug store for a few cents, pour a little into your hand and rub well into the scalp with the finger tips. By morning most, if not all, of this awful scurf will have disappeared. Two or three applications will destroy every bit of dandruff; stop scalp itching and falling hair.

Y.M.C.A. WOMEN'S AUXILIARY
The monthly meeting of the women's auxiliary to the Y.M.C.A. was held at All Souls' church on Friday afternoon. After a short devotional service led by Miss Mary Stevens, reports were read and 45 new members were voted upon. Mrs. G. H. Spaulding rendered several patriotic solos with Miss Milled French playing accompaniment. It was interesting to find from the report of the state convention, read by Mrs. Albert F. French, that Lowell had the largest delegation. War poems were read by Rev. A. R. Hussey, who has made a large collection of same, and these proved to be most interesting. It was voted that a musical play would be given on Jan. 5, and it is expected that the choral union from the First Baptist church will assist with the program. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

HARKINS AFTER PENCE CHANCE FOR LOCAL BOYS

Lowell Captain Wires Fine Offer to Classy Goal Tenders
Polo Teams Strengthen

Freddie Harkins is up in arms and the signing of Hart is only the first move he has made to strengthen the Lowell team. Harkins, during his entire career in polo has always been with a winner and with four teams ahead of him in the league race, he is determined to go on the ladder, starting out with the highest team in the league, Harkins and Griffith worked their heads on to keep Lowell up in the running. This has done him a great deal of work, but with the other teams adding strength, Harkins is out to build up the Lowell team.

Hart joined the Lowell team, replacing Mulligan. But not content with this he has wired Freddie Pence, the classy goal tender, who was with Providence last season, asking him to come to Lowell. Harkins has made a very fine offer to Pence and he feels confident that his proposition will be accepted. Pence is now at his home in Marion, Ind.

When the season opened Pence was at his home and he was declared a free agent. Harkins, learning that he had regained his health, immediately wrote Pence asking him to come to Lowell. Pence has agreed to come to this city. Capt. Harkins believes he will be able to stand pat and then go out after the pennant.

H. H. Harold, who hails from the west, has been signed by Capt. Harkins to play the position of center. Harold is a six footer and reputed to be one of the fastest offensive men in the game, has also accepted terms and will soon join the down river team.

All the teams in the league, with the exception of Lawrence, are here. Lowell has a slight lead, with Providence, Worcester, New Bedford and Lowell standing in the order named.

Lowell opens a very busy week today. Tomorrow night Salem plays here. On Wednesday, Christmas day, Lowell will play at Lawrence in the afternoon and will meet Lawrence at the Crescent rink in the evening. The team will play on Thursday, but will play Providence here on Friday night. Saturday Lowell will play at Providence.

The complete schedule for the present week follows:

Tonight: Worcester at Providence, New Bedford at Lawrence, Lowell at Salem.

Tuesday: Salem at Lowell, Providence at Worcester, Lawrence at New Bedford.

Christmas afternoon: Salem at Worcester, Providence at New Bedford, Lowell at Lawrence.

Christmas night: New Bedford at Providence, Worcester at Lowell, Worcester at Salem.

Thursday: Lawrence at Salem.

Friday: Worcester at New Bedford, Providence at Lowell.

Saturday: Salem at Lawrence, Lowell at Providence, New Bedford at Worcester.

There are other local boys capable of making good if they get into the Lowell lineup on several occasions and played a very satisfactory game. All he needs to develop into a high class performer is experience. He will never get a chance to shine, the Lowell team would take Buckley and build around him, he would improve and three plays which would soon be able to play a good game.

There are other local boys capable of making good if they get into the Lowell lineup on several occasions and played a very satisfactory game. All he needs to develop into a high class performer is experience. He will never get a chance to shine, the Lowell team would take Buckley and build around him, he would improve and three plays which would soon be able to play a good game.

REPORT GAFFNEY TO BUY THE RED SOX

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—James Gaffney of New York, former owner of the Boston Nationals, has opened negotiations with Harry H. Frazee, owner of the Boston Americans, for the purchase of the latter club, according to a report circulated in baseball circles here last night.

While neither Gaffney nor Frazee would discuss the report, predictions were made that Gaffney would acquire the club within the next few days and work on an arrangement with the Boston National club whereby Fenway Park would be closed and both Boston teams would play at Braves field, thus eliminating a large item of expense.
